Welcome to Nevada!

If you're looking for excitement and adventure, you've come to the right state.

Nevada offers visitors a wide range of experiences, from the bustling gaming floors of our resort-casinos to the snow-capped summits of our many mountain peaks. Top-notch entertainment, dining, recreation, and museums all can be found within Nevada's borders, and the state's unparalleled desert landscape holds beautiful vistas and colorful towns for you to explore.

This guide has the information you need to make the most of your trip to Nevada, the state at the heart of the American West.

For many of you, Las Vegas is almost synonymous with Nevada. Its world-class resorts, shows, and restaurants have made it a top national and international destination. Venture beyond the glitz and glamour, however, and you'll find gems like Hoover Dam, built in the 1930s to harness hydroelectric power from the Colorado River, and Lake Tahoe, the largest alpine lake in North America.

Visit one of Nevada's seven state museums to learn more about the nation's 36th state — its natural history as well as its key role in the development of the American West.

Nevada has 25 state parks, including the recently opened Van Sickle Bi-State Park straddling the Nevada and California border, where guests can enjoy hiking and other recreational activities. Great Basin National Park, on Nevada's eastern side, is home to the Lehman Caves, where visitors can see stalactites, stalagmites, and other subterranean formations. Nevada also claims a section of Death Valley National Park — and nearby attractions like the ghost town of Rhyolite make it one of the most interesting corners of our wonderful state.

Traveling Nevada is also a great opportunity to get in touch with Western history, from a drive along U.S. Highway 50, which parallels the old Pony Express mail route used in the early 1860s, to a visit to Virginia City, where the Comstock silver boom took place from 1859 to the 1880s. Our state's vibrant American Indian culture can be experienced in places like Pyramid Lake, maintained and operated by the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe, and the Lost City Museum, which preserves ancient Anasazi Indian artifacts.

There is so much to explore in Nevada. I invite you to experience all it has to offer.

Sincerely,

Remember what it's like to be a kid, feeling carefree, and having so much fun that you laugh until your belly aches? Find that feeling by mountain biking on the Tahoe Rim Trail – the outdoor freedom you'll experience is epic.

Remember the last time you were amazed — even speechless? You'll experience that moment when you take a bend in the road and see Lake Tahoe for the first time. Truth be told, you'll get that feeling every time you see it.

And when was the last time you took a moment to be yourself — without anyone looking over your shoulder? Nevada offers the spirit of freedom with its myriad opportunities to let loose and rediscover the real you.

From the electrifying excitement of Las Vegas and Reno, to the accessible abundance of natural treasures and free-spirited special events, to historic landmarks and a symphony of cultural offerings, Nevada is rich in diverse experiences and unexpected adventures just waiting to be discovered.

Come to Nevada.

Nevada embraces the call of the frontier and the promise of the West — the space and freedom to do what you want, where you want, and when you want. In Nevada, you can escape the fences and boundaries of everyday life and find the exhilaration that comes from exploring diverse and untapped destinations.

The spirit of discovery runs deep in Nevada. It's in our blood, and it's probably in yours, too. Nevada was founded by miners in search of silver and gold. This spirit is part of our heritage, and the passion to savor the state's unparalleled experiences is alive today.

The treasures waiting to be uncovered will take you off the highway, onto scenic backroads and trails. Just like prospectors who found mineral wealth, you too can find Nevada's hidden gems. The treasures also come from world-class shopping, dining, and gaming along the Las Vegas Strip, in Reno, Mesquite, and Laughlin, and any of the many locations around the state where you can try your luck at winning your own fortune.

Nevada is about doing, rather than simply seeing. It's for people who want a little adventure in their travels. People like you who know the journey is just as important as the destination — people who know that truly worthwhile experiences and memories come with a bit of risk, and the experience of a lifetime might be a few more miles down the road...or just around the corner.

The snow-capped Sierra Nevada. Wetlands teeming with wildlife. Hundreds of miles of accessible ATV and mountain biking trails. Extraordinary canyons and mountain lakes. The scenic splendor of national and state parks. Historic landmarks, including the legendary California Trail. Ghost towns that call out to be remembered.

The glittering lights of the Las Vegas Strip. Reno's unique combination of scenic beauty and heart-racing outdoor sports. The manmade marvel of the Hoover Dam. Cowboy poetry and rodeos that convey the spirit of the West.

If you want to get in the game, come to Nevada. Life is meant to be lived to its fullest, and that's what happens in Nevada.

Within this guide, you'll find the places, people, and activities that will make your trip to Nevada truly unforgettable. Then, share your stories on TravelNevada.com or join the conversation on Facebook (TravelNevada) or follow us on Twitter (@TravelNevada). Most calendars are little more than a matter of numbers. The one North Tahoe goes by is measured in memories. Summer stretches of blue skies and bronze beaches include hiking, biking, paddleboarding, kayaking, golf, music and art while the flip side of the calendar is alive with sleigh rides, snowshoeing and world-class skiing – both cross-country and alpine. For a convenient, scenic, any season escape by road or air, visit North Lake Tahoe.

It's a good thing smart phones are equipped with cameras, because Nevada's cities, towns, and rural expanses offer so many photo opportunities you'll want to be ready at a moment's notice.

1 WELCOME TO FABULOUS LAS VEGAS—

You've seen it on film, T-shirts, belt buckles, and novelty shot glasses—the iconic sign at 5100 Las Vegas Boulevard South is among the most photographed on Earth. No trip to Las Vegas is complete without striking a pose beneath the 1959 Sin City symbol. A replica sits on Boulder

Highway north of Tropicana Avenue, and a “Welcome to Fabulous Downtown Las Vegas” sign on Las Vegas Boulevard north of Wyoming Avenue marks downtown.

2 RENO ARCH—“The Biggest Little City in the World” has sported its iconic downtown arch since 1926. Be mindful of traffic while snapping your shot at the intersection of Virginia Street and Commercial Row, then walk a few blocks southeast to Lake Street near the Truckee River where the original arch resides.

3 LAKE TAHOE—It would be difficult—if not impossible—to find a bad vantage point from which to photograph the country's largest and most picturesque alpine lake. Virtually every inch of its 72-mile shoreline affords breathtaking views. One suggestion is the turnout just before Incline Village traveling from Reno on State Route 431.

4 HOOVER DAM—Since its dedication in 1935, this landmark hydroelectric power producer has been one of Nevada's most photographed and visited sites. The new Mike O'Callaghan-Pat Tillman Memorial Bridge offers spectacular views previously only seen via helicopter. Regular tours explore the dam inside and out.

5 GREAT BASIN NATIONAL PARK—Scenic photos are often ruined when bystanders unwittingly step into the frame. Luckily for shutterbugs, Great Basin National Park's remote location equates to a lack of crowds, so it feels as though you have the entire wilderness to yourself. The whole park looks amazing through a lens, and the Wheeler Peak Scenic Drive boasts breathtaking views of Nevada's second-highest mountain.

6 WENDOVER WILL—It is hard to miss the bright lights of West Wendover when traveling Interstate 80 in northeastern Nevada, but in case you do, a friendly 63-foot-tall neon cowboy is waiting to show you the way. Wendover Will watches over the town and welcomes visitors to Nevada's last hurrah before Utah's desolate Bonneville Salt Flats.

7 RHYOLITE—Ghost towns are about as common in Nevada as sagebrush, and their decaying buildings provide excellent photo opportunities. Rhyolite's combination of expansive ruins and easy access—it's only four miles from Beatty—make it a great place for a Nevada ghost-town photo safari. Highlights include the Bottle House, built out of empty beer bottles, the two-story school, the three-story Cook Bank Building, and the Las Vegas and Tonopah Railroad Depot.

8 GENOA—One of Nevada's oldest towns also happens to be one of its most photogenic. Nestled at the foot of the towering Carson Range in Carson Valley, Genoa's charmingly languid pace provides the peace and quiet to compose the perfect shot. Start by capturing a piece of history at “Nevada's oldest thirst parlor,” the Genoa Bar, which has been pouring drinks since 1853.

9 VIRGINIA CITY—Virginia City is a photographer's dream, with historic sites and costumed locals literally around every corner. Bring plenty of memory cards, because the Comstock offers an abundance of must-shoot sites. They include St. Mary's in the Mountains Catholic church, the Mackay and Chollar mansions, Storey County Courthouse, Piper's Opera House, and the Fourth Ward School.

10 VALLEY OF FIRE STATE PARK—This state park is no stranger to the camera. In addition to countless appearances in the photo albums and galleries of amateur and professional photographers, Valley of Fire's otherworldly sandstone formations have graced the big screen in films such as "The Professionals," "Total Recall," "Star Trek Generations," and "Transformers." Some of the park's most photogenic spots include Rainbow Vista, White Domes, Elephant Rock, and petroglyphs at Atlatl Rock and along the trail to Mouse's Tank.

11 WARD CHARCOAL OVENS STATE HISTORIC PARK—Following the 1870s silver discovery in the Egan Range south of Ely, the town of Ward sprang up to support the mines. Though most of its buildings and all of its 1,500 residents have long since vacated, six well-preserved charcoal ovens remain and are photography darlings today. These cones even graced the cover of the September/October 2009 issue of Nevada Magazine.

12 BLACK ROCK DESERT—Most of the places on this list made the cut because of the wealth of subjects they offer photographers. What makes this corner of northwestern Nevada so photogenic is its absence of subjects. One of the largest flat expanses on earth, the desert provides a whole new perspective on Nevada's big skies, horizon lines, and even tire tracks.

13 CATHEDRAL GORGE STATE PARK—Miller Point, overlooking Cathedral Gorge, offers sweeping views and is a superb vantage from which to photograph the park. But for a truly exceptional experience, intrepid photographers should venture into the chasm's depths. Squeezing through narrow, winding slot canyons in Cathedral Gorge reveals a formerly underground world of dramatic light and mind-blowing formations. Just be ready for a little dust.

14 LAUGHLIN—A dinner cruise along the sparkling Colorado River is one of the state's hidden gems. The vibrantly colored resorts of the city's mini-Strip reflect off the river in a surreal dance of light and provide steady-handed photographers with countless options to capture the watery echoes of neon.

15 LAMOILLE—This quaint ranching town in the shadow of one of the state's most impressive mountain ranges is the quintessential Nevada hideaway. The Ruby Mountains, "Nevada's Alps," provide a perfect backdrop to century-old farms and the photogenic 1905 Little Church of the Crossroads, an active Presbyterian Church whose steeple practically begs you to snap its picture.

Seven Wonders of Nevada

Celebrate the Silver State's past and present by exploring its fascinating collection of state museums.

NEVADA STATE MUSEUM

Las Vegas

The Springs Preserve, one of southern Nevada's top cultural and educational attractions, now offers visitors more exhibits with the new Nevada State Museum, Las Vegas. The new space is about twice the size of its former site at Lorenzi Park and aims to tell the unique story of Nevada.

Highlights include the first dinosaur fossils documented in Nevada, Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel's 1946 Flamingo stock certificate, mineral specimens from Nevada mines, preserved Nevada wildlife, and Las Vegas showgirl costumes. Through interactive exhibits, video presentations, and other displays, visitors learn about the state's people, geography, and history.

The Springs Preserve is the perfect neighbor for the new Nevada State Museum, with its interactive science and nature exhibits, botanical gardens, hiking trails, and live animal shows.

Carson City

The Nevada State Museum, Carson City occupies the 1869 U. S. Mint and is full of enough historical and cultural exhibits to entertain visitors for an entire day and then some. Coin Press No. 1 is proudly on display and mints coins and medallions the last Friday of each month. The museum offers intriguing monthly programs and events such as the Frances Humphrey Lecture Series and Behind the Scenes Tours in Natural History.

The Marjorie Russell Clothing and Textile Research Center contains about 10,000 artifacts and is a study center for understanding historic costumes and textiles. Such exhibits as "Under One Sky: Nevada's Native American Heritage" and the "Fey Slot Machine Collection" celebrate the state's diverse cultural history.

Lost City Museum, Overton

Nevada Historical Society, Reno

LOST CITY MUSEUM

Overton

Before Mormon pioneers settled the area around the Muddy River in the 1800s, Moapa Valley was home to indigenous populations as early as 350 B.C. The rich history of these cultures can be explored at the Lost City Museum in Overton and nearby Valley of Fire State Park.

Established in 1935, the Lost City Museum was built by the National Park Service to exhibit artifacts that were being excavated from Pueblo Grande de Nevada. The waters of Lake Mead were threatening these Anasazi Indian sites as they filled behind the newly built Hoover Dam.

Modern museum programs include ongoing archaeological research on the remaining Lost City sites, school tours and outreach programs, changing exhibits, archival library, and collections research capabilities.

NEVADA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Reno

The Nevada Historical Society Museum contains two permanent galleries: Nevada and Reno History. Located in the hallway and conference-room gallery spaces, respectively, guests will find nostalgic rotating exhibits. The Society research library contains a unique and rich collection of manuscripts, photographs, maps, rare books, and print materials on Nevada, the Great Basin, and the West.

The Nevada Historical Society is the oldest cultural institution in Nevada, dating to 1904. The Society's founder, Jeannie Elizabeth Wier, was a respected history professor at the University of Nevada, Reno.

“Nevada has long been a place of endless mystery, irony, and flat-out wonderment for those who have taken the time to experience it. It’s easily the most eccentric and interesting state in the Union.”

state museums

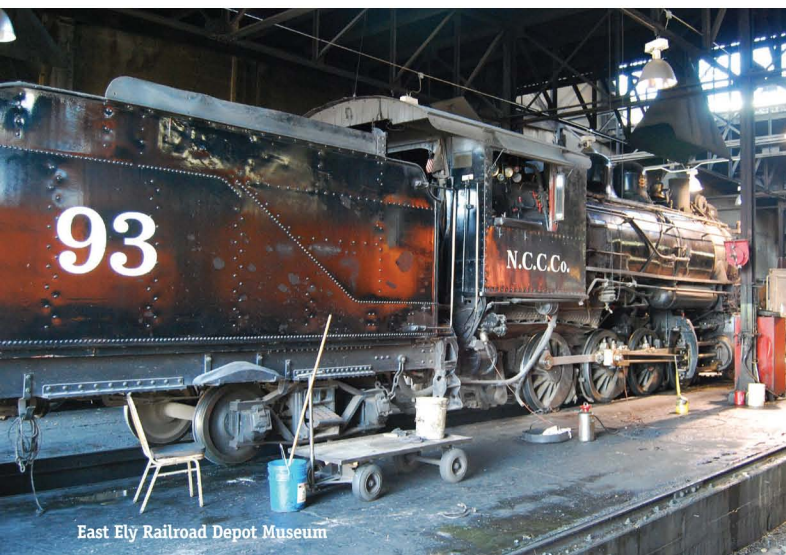

Trains hold an important place in Nevada's early development. They transported precious metals, supplies, and people to and from mines. Many Nevada cities and towns may not exist if it weren't for railroads. Three state museums dedicated to railroads preserve and honor that legacy.

East Ely Railroad Depot Museum

NEVADA STATE RAILROAD MUSEUM

Carson City

The Nevada State Railroad Museum in Carson City salutes the locomotives and cars of the famous Virginia & Truckee Railroad and other railroads of the Silver State. Among the 65 locomotives and cars in the collection, 40 were built pre-1900. More than 30 pieces that operated on the V&T are available to peruse.

Museum activities consist of operation of historic equipment, including train rides, handcar rides, lectures, an annual railroad history symposium, changing exhibits, and special events. The McKeen Motor Car No. 22, which logged more than 500,000 miles on the V&T, was recently restored and is on display.

NEVADA STATE RAILROAD MUSEUM

Boulder City

To transport heavy equipment and supplies to support the building of Hoover Dam, in 1931 the Union Pacific constructed a rail line linking Las Vegas to Summit, later renamed Boulder City. The Union Pacific abandoned the portion of the line from Boulder City to Henderson in 1985 and donated the land and track to the state of Nevada for this wonderful attraction.

The train operates most Saturdays and Sundays, and guests can even create their own special event. For instance, you can charter the entire train for your birthday party or wedding or drive a diesel locomotive via the Engineer for an Hour program. Teachers can also schedule educational field trips for their classes.

Ely

Through exhibits in the restored passenger depot and freight building, visitors experience the rich history of the Nevada Northern Railway. These workhorses moved thousands of tons of concentrated copper ore that powered America in the 20th century. Researchers will find one of the most complete corporate archives for a railroad of this size. The partner operation, managed by the White Pine County Railroad Heritage Foundation, affords visitors an opportunity to ride a historic train and visit the shops and yards of this once-thriving regional railroad.

A variety of rides are available, from regular excursion trains to themed rides such as wine trains, barbecue trains, and the popular Polar Express. The adventurous tourist can rent a steam or diesel locomotive and drive it either 14 or 28 miles—with supervision, of course.

Check Museums.TravelNevada.com for hours and special events.

Come for the sun, stay for your health

TRAVELERS ARE DRAWN TO NEVADA FOR MANY REASONS — FABULOUS RESORTS, OLD WEST HISTORY, ENDLESS RECREATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES, AND BREATHTAKING SCENERY AMONG THEM. FOR YEARS, PEOPLE HAVE RELOCATED TO THE STATE BECAUSE OF THE ADVANTAGES THE CLIMATE HAS FOR THEIR HEALTH. NOW, TRAVELERS ARE DISCOVERING NEVADA'S TREMENDOUS HEALTH OFFERINGS.

People are traveling for medical and health treatments more often — as many as 1.6 million Americans are expected to do so in 2012, according to a report from the Deloitte Center for Health Solutions — and many of them choose Nevada for its advanced medical facilities, natural hot springs, innovative spas, and active, healthy lifestyle.

The Silver State answers the needs of today's healthcare consumers, many of whom will travel to receive leading-edge care or to indulge in restorative spa stays. Health-and-wellness tourists, or medical tourists, will find unexpected options in Nevada.

Nevada has a nationally recognized medical facility in the Cleveland Clinic Lou Ruvo Center for Brain Health in Las Vegas, where doctors provide early diagnosis and new treatment options for people with Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson's disease, and other cognitive disorders. In addition to the most technologically advanced brain-scanning equipment, the Lou Ruvo Center offers multi-modal treatment programs that incorporate physical exercise, occupational and physical therapy, cognitive rehabilitation, cognitive-enhancing medications, and clinical trials.

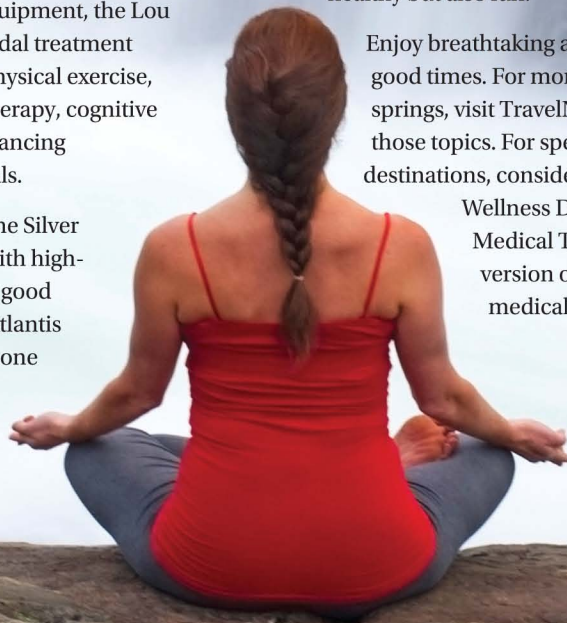

When it comes to wellness, the Silver State has a roster of resorts with high-end spas offering treatments good for the body and spirit. The Atlantis Casino Resort Spa in Reno is one of only a dozen spas in the United States to offer the exclusive Pantai Luar massage treatment, believed to activate the body's self-repair mechanism. From the Hyatt Regency Lake Tahoe Resort, featured in Health magazine as one of the country's "Top 10 Most Slimming Vacations in the Country," to The Mirage Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas, which has a unique dolphin yoga class, there's no lack of spa options. For a more rustic experience, consider a visit to one of Nevada's many natural hot springs, where you can soak in relaxing, warm water and enjoy beautiful desert vistas.

Nevada is also home to a number of quality hospitals and medical facilities that provide executive physicals — thorough medical and health screenings that can include blood work, diagnostic imaging, cardiovascular tests, and nutritional counseling. Combine an executive physical with an outing to a Nevada State Park or luxurious resort stay, and you'll have a trip that is not only healthy but also fun.

Enjoy breathtaking adventures, relax, and enjoy good times. For more on Nevada's spas and hot springs, visit TravelNevada.com and search those topics. For specific Las Vegas medical destinations, consider the Las Vegas Health &

DAY 1

Depart Las Vegas, heading north on I-15 to Valley of Fire State Park, Nevada's oldest state park, dedicated in 1935. Named for the red sandstone formations found throughout the site, the park offers a beautiful setting for hiking, picnicking, and viewing of petroglyphs (ancient rock art). Be sure to check out the visitors center for more on the park's geology and history. Head north again — hopefully your golf clubs are packed — via Hwy. 169 and I-15 to the city of Mesquite. Founded in the late 1800s as a farming town, Mesquite today is a golfer's destination, with seven challenging courses. Hit the greens, or stroll the town. Stop in at the Virgin Valley Heritage Museum for a look at historical items or information on a self-guided walking tour of the city. Overnight in Mesquite

DAY 2

From Mesquite, travel south on I-15 to Overton for a visit to the Lost City Museum, featuring Anasazi Indian artifacts from Pueblo Grande de Nevada, an area that was covered by water from Lake Mead as it backed up behind Hoover Dam. From here, you'll head south on highways 169 and 167 toward Lake Mead, created when Hoover Dam backed up the Colorado River. There are several main access points to Lake Mead; one spot to consider is the Callville Bay Resort & Marina, which rents boats and personal watercraft. Continue your trip around Lake Mead to Hoover Dam, built during the Great Depression to produce hydroelectric power. Here you can explore the visitors center or sign-up for a tour; you also may want to drive across the Mike O'Callaghan-Pat Tillman Memorial Bridge (the Hoover Dam Bypass), the longest arch-suspension bridge in North America. From here, head southeast to Boulder City. Overnight in Boulder City

DAY 3

Wake up in Boulder City, one of only two non-gaming towns in Nevada. Be sure to explore the Nevada State Railroad Museum or indulge in a zip line flight at Bootleg Canyon Flightlines. From Boulder City, travel south on U.S. 95 and Hwy. 163 to Laughlin, on the banks of the Colorado River. Tour the riverside by sand rail (vehicles built for off-road terrain) or take a riverboat cruise or water taxi trip. Overnight in Laughlin

DAY 4

From Laughlin, head north, back to the bright lights of Las Vegas.

Lovers Lock Plaza, Lovelock

Bristlecone Pine, Great Basin National Park

INTERSTATE 80 AND HIGHWAY 50 LOOP: LOVELOCK, WINNEMUCCA, ELKO, ELY, EUREKA, AUSTIN, FALLON

nv.mobi/i8050

DAY 1

From Reno, take I-80 East to Lovelock, a community dating to the 1860s. Here, check out Lovers Lock Plaza, where you and that special someone can “lock your love” — attach a small padlock symbolizing your devotion onto a chain with hundreds of other such mementos. Continue east to Winnemucca, and stop at the Winnemucca Convention Center for a map of the area’s historic sites. Travel east to either Battle Mountain or Carlin, railroad towns from the 1860s and 1870s that experienced mining booms in the last half of the 20th century. About eight miles before reaching Elko, off Hunter Exit 292, is the California Trail Interpretive Center (opening summer 2012), a must-see depiction of the pioneers and wagon trains that explored and settled the West. Take a tour of a working gold mine around the Carlin area* before heading east on I-80 toward Elko. The United States is the world’s third largest producer of gold, and most of it comes from Nevada mines. Overnight in Elko

DAY 2

Spend the day in Elko digging into Nevada’s mining, ranching, and native culture. Explore the area’s natural history, geology, and more, and see one of the most extensive collections of work by Western artist/writer Will James at the Northeastern Nevada Museum. Stop at the Western Folklife Center, home of the National Cowboy Poetry Gathering, and at Sherman Station, a collection of historic ranch buildings that also serves as the Elko Visitors Center. Take a scenic drive to the glacier-carved Lamoille Canyon in the Ruby Mountains. Return to Elko for the evening and dine at one of the area’s Basque restaurants for a hearty and unforgettable authentic meal. Overnight in Elko

DAY 3

From Elko, take I-80 East to Wells, where you drive along the celebrated Victory Highway. From Wells, continue south on the Great Basin Highway to McGill to view the McGill Drugstore Museum, a time capsule from the 1970s. Continue south to Ely and tour the Renaissance Village, a group of restored early 1900s homes that depict the town’s early cultures and settlers. Visit the White Pine Museum and travel the city’s Art Trail, which features more than 20 murals and sculptures depicting Ely’s history.

Overnight in Ely

DAY 4

Ely is your home base for the day. First, drive east to Great Basin National Park to see 5,000-year-old bristlecone pine trees, the oldest living things on Earth, and enjoy a trip to the Lehman Caves to see the stalactite and stalagmite formations. With some advance planning, you may want to brave a hike up Wheeler Peak, the second-highest mountain in Nevada. Travel back to Ely, where you can tour the Nevada Northern Railway Museum or even ride a restored steam locomotive. Overnight in Ely

DAY 5

Depart Ely via Hwy. 50 — which loosely follows the path of the Pony Express, the horseback mail delivery service that ran from 1860 to 1861 — for Eureka, where you can tour the Eureka Opera House. Continue west along Hwy. 50, dubbed “The Loneliest Road in America” by Life magazine, to the town of Austin. Whet your whistle at the International Café and Bar, a saloon with as much history as the town itself, then drive to Fallon, home of the Stillwater Wildlife Refuge and the Top Gun School at Naval Air Station Fallon. Enjoy a hike or head out to Lahontan Reservoir for some water sports before returning to Reno.

* Mine tours are seasonal and arrangements must be made in advance.

While in Ely, explore the city's Art Trail, which features more than 20 murals and sculptures depicting the city's history. Overnight in Ely

DAY 3

Life magazine once described Highway 50 as “The Loneliest Road in America.” Think of it as a challenge as you travel west from Ely on Hwy. 50. Stop in Eureka and enjoy a self-guided walking tour of historic buildings, including the Eureka Opera House and the Sentinel Museum. Continue west to Austin, founded during a silver rush in the 1860s. Whet your whistle at the International Café and Bar, a saloon with as much history as the town itself. Head south on Hwy. 376 to drive through the picturesque Smoky Valley to Tonopah, the site of a mining boom in the early 1900s. Don't worry if you arrive after dark; this is the best time to view the starry skies in what USA Today called the No. 1 place to stargaze in the United States.

Overnight in Tonopah

DAY 4

Today, explore the Tonopah Historic Mining Park to see mining equipment, buildings, and mine shafts. Also visit the Central Nevada Museum, which highlights Tonopah's mining history and tells the story of the area's ranching and pioneer past. From Beatty, head southwest on State Route 374 to Death Valley National Park. On the way, visit the ghost town of Rhyolite and the Goldwell Open Air Museum, site of several large-scale sculptures, including an interpretation of Da Vinci's “The Last Supper.” Rhyolite is one of the most photographed ghost towns in the West and well worth the short detour. Continue southeast to Furnace Creek in Death Valley National Park and pick up maps and guides at the visitors center, or just take in the dramatic landscapes and sand dunes. Take Hwy. 190 East to Pahrump, but be sure to stop at Death Valley's famous Zabriskie Point and other unforgettable viewing areas along the way. An early 1900s boomtown, it made its mark on history as the site of the Nelson-Gans boxing match. Today it is home to the reportedly haunted Goldfield Hotel and other turn-of-the-century buildings preserved in a state of arrested decay. Continue on to Scotty's Castle off Hwy. 267 near the Nevada border. Here, take a living history tour of the unfinished mansion — construction was halted in 1931 — and hear the story of the two men behind the building, Death Valley Scotty and Albert Johnson, and their Hollywood friends who visited this remote corner of Death Valley. From Scotty's Castle, continue south to Furnace Creek, headquarters for the Death Valley National Park Visitors Center, or head east toward Beatty. Valley of Fire State Park

Las Vegas Territory

The land of desert and dreams, southern Nevada's Las Vegas Territory offers locals and tourists a little bit of everything. There are beaches for bathing, casinos for cashing in, resorts for relaxing, slopes for skiing, and limits bound only by the imagination.

Boulder City

Las Vegas. The words, like the city, stand alone. What started as a dusty railroad stop in the early 1900s is a household name today, a metropolis with unmatched global recognition. Roughly 40 million people visit America's City of Lights each year, drawn by the spectacle of The Strip, but the allure of southern Nevada does not stop there. The entire Las Vegas Territory holds natural wonders and excitement to rival the man-made brilliance of the city.

If you prefer pine trees and snow to cacti and sand, Mount Charleston and the Spring Mountains offer an alpine getaway less than an hour from the Strip. Boulder City and Hoover Dam, about 30 minutes from Las Vegas, offer history and a relaxed pace, and Lake Mead is the perfect place to beat the desert heat. For adventure, Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area is minutes outside the Las Vegas city limits, and Valley of Fire State Park is just an hour's drive north.

For Vegas-style excitement without the hustle and bustle, Laughlin offers budget-friendly fun on the banks of the Colorado River; Mesquite presents a golfer's paradise, and Primm, on Interstate 15 at the California border, is home to the Desperado, one of the tallest, fastest roller coasters on Earth.

Whether your Nevada adventure includes high-end resorts or lofty mountaintops, the spectacle of the Strip or the marvel of Hoover Dam, the variety of Las Vegas Territory is sure to please.

Reno-Tahoe Territory
Northwestern Nevada

Lake Tahoe, by Dianne Phelps

Corley Ranch, Gardnerville

International Camel Races, Virginia City

RENO-TAHOE TERRITORY

Imagine Reno 150 years ago: no downtown Riverwalk District with hip restaurants, art galleries, and lounges. The community then was a muddy riverbank at Lake's Crossing. Conversely, Virginia City's boardwalk-lined C Street and its crowded wood-planked storefronts appear today much as they did in 1875, save the paved roadway and modern cars. It's that juxtaposition — the mingling of old and new — that makes Reno-Tahoe Territory so uncommon. From Sparks, a railroad town that grew to be the unofficial special-events capital of Nevada, to the state capital, Carson City, where historic buildings serve modern functions, northwestern Nevada is where traditional and modern meld seamlessly.

Outside of the charming cities and towns, the natural beauty of Reno-Tahoe Territory is a beacon for outdoor enthusiasts. Lake Tahoe does double-duty as an attraction for skiers and snowboarders in the winter and as a playground for beachgoers and hikers in the summer. Superb white-water rafting on the Carson and Truckee rivers contradict Nevada's and reputation, and picturesque country roads in the Carson and Washoe valleys as well as around Lake Tahoe beg to be bicycled. The northernmost reaches of the territory include Black Rock Desert-High Rock Canyon Emigrant Trails National Conservation Area, waiting to be discovered by prepared explorers.

Adventure, relaxation, a lesson in history, or a mixture of the three can be enjoyed in Nevada's Reno-Tahoe Territory.

Go to TravelNevada.com for more information on things to see and do in Nevada.

Reno-Tahoe Territory

Northwestern Nevada's Reno-Tahoe Territory has something for everyone. One of the world's most picturesque bodies of water, Lake Tahoe, is only miles from some of the most historic spots in the West, and cosmopolitan Reno is refreshingly close to ranches and wide-open Nevada desert.

“There are lots of interesting personalities in this state. There is a lot of freedom, and that inspires individual thinkers. I would say that the majority of people here are eclectic in the way they think. Instead of people looking out for themselves, they look out for each other.”

COWBOY COUNTRY

For as long as Nevada has been a state, and even before that, Cowboy Country was integral in conveying people, products, and progress across the continent.

In the 1840s and '50s, hundreds of thousands of settlers traveled the region en route to the California goldfields, and, in the 1860s, the first transcontinental railroad roared through the area. The early 1900s brought the nation's first coast-to-coast roads, the Lincoln Highway and Victory Highway, to this territory. Interstate 80 — the first interstate to traverse the country, built in the 1960s and '70s — runs through this portion of northeastern Nevada.

Cowboy Country adventures, from fishing and exploring the region's rivers and lakes to hunting and hiking in the Ruby and Jarbidge mountains, are as wild today as when the first settlers arrived. The area has a long ranching history, celebrated annually at the National Cowboy Poetry Gathering in Elko. At this event, cowboys and cowgirls share their humorous, truthful, and often heart-wrenching tales of life on the range.

But it's not all rugged peaks, wild rivers, Stetsons, and boots in Nevada's northeast. Couples can symbolically lock their love in Lovelock, and West Wendover and Jackpot feature Vegas-style resorts and top-name entertainment. Towns such as Battle Mountain, Elko, Winnemucca, and Wells maintain Nevada's frontier spirit despite their modern hotels, restaurants, and stores. The region is also home to the state's largest population of Basque Americans, descendants of sheep ranchers with a legendary love of hard work, hearty food, and good fun.

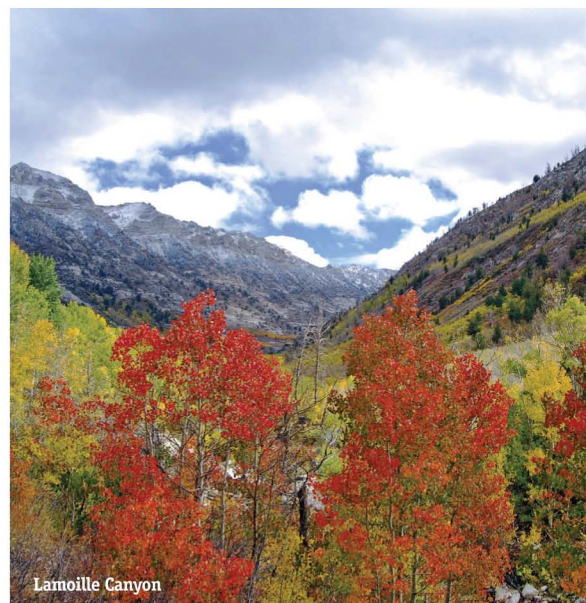

Whether you arrive by horse, car, or plane, in a business suit or cowboy boots, the warm hospitality of Nevada's Cowboy Country will make you feel right at home.

Go to TravelNevada.com for more information on things to see and do in Nevada.

Cowboy Country

Cowboy Country in northeastern Nevada is a land of big skies and big adventure. Rugged mountains, pristine rivers and lakes, friendly towns, and plenty of miles to roam evoke the spirit of the cowboy in the aptly named territory.

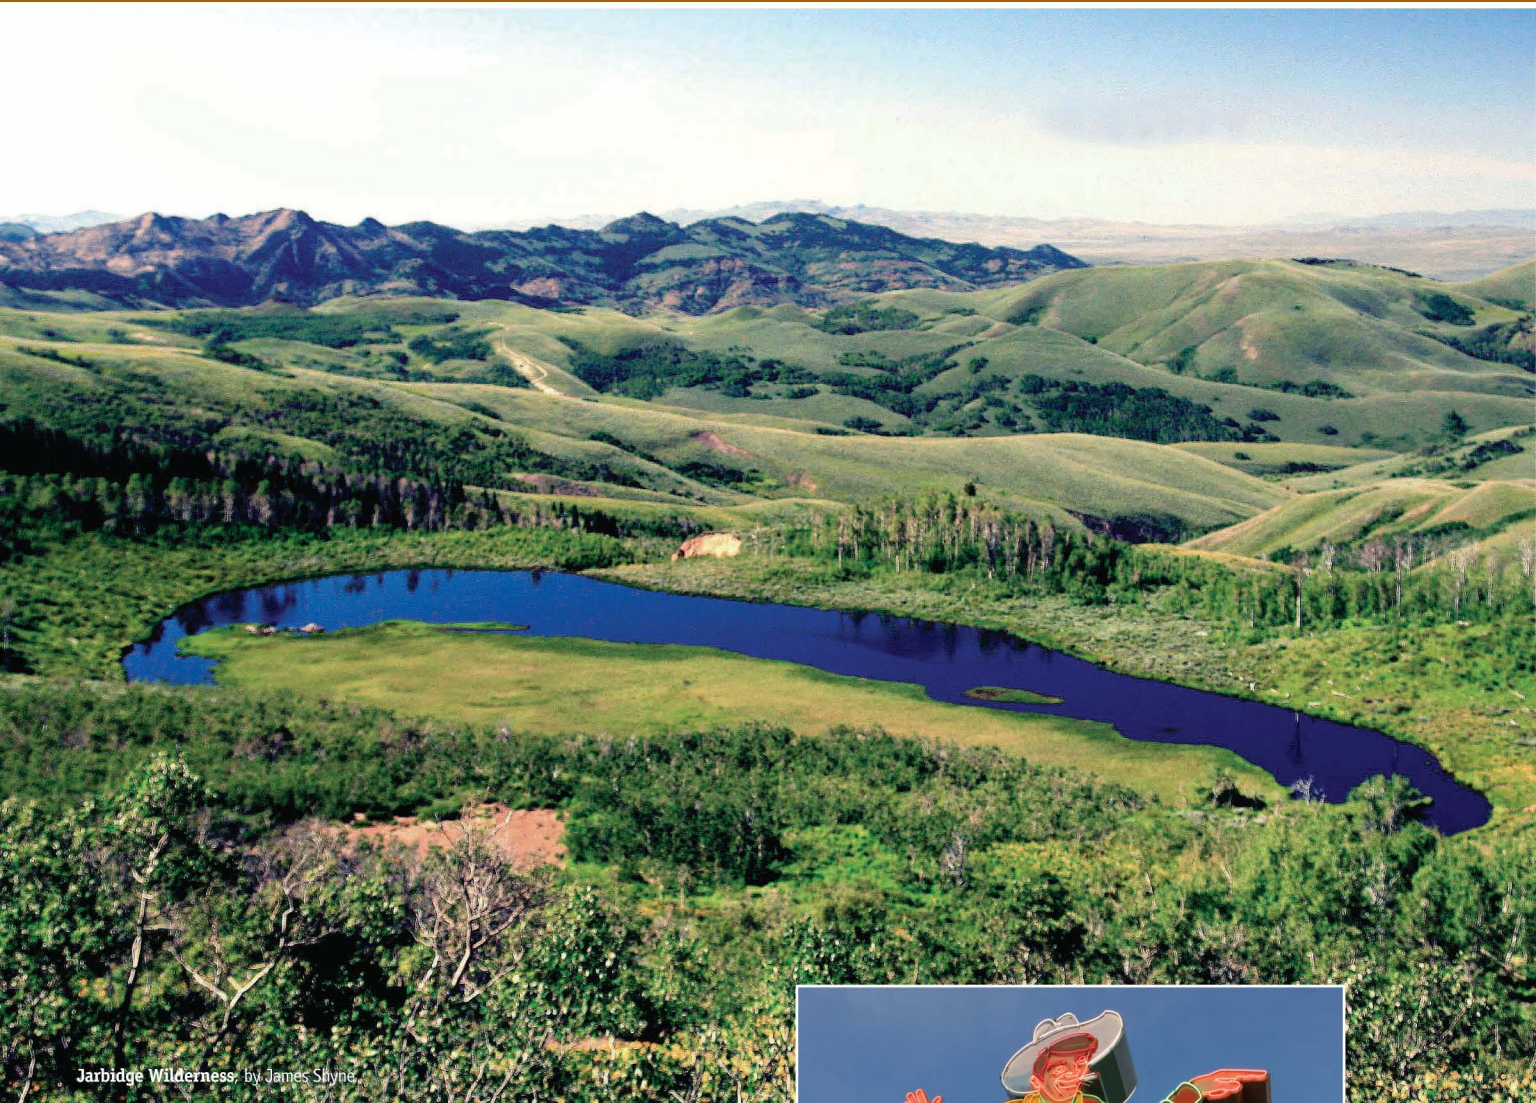

Lamoille Canyon

“When I think of Nevada, I think of home. A wonderful and beautiful place to live. Full of freedom, tranquility, open space, even peace.”

Pony Express Territory

North central Nevada's Pony Express Territory is named for the famous 1860-61 mail route that traversed the region. U.S. Highway 50 follows roughly the same route, one that was once considered threatening and forbidding but is now dotted with interesting stops and friendly towns.

PONY EXPRESS TERRITORY

The tough-as-nails riders of the Pony Express — the horseback mail service that operated from 1860-61 — would have scoffed at the nickname given to their route by Life magazine more than a century later. “The Loneliest Road in America,” the portion of U.S. Highway 50 that runs through the heart of the Silver State, travels approximately the same route as the fabled Pony Express, which lends its name to the territory.

The path that was plagued by rough weather and violent bandits more than 150 years ago today is beset with quaint towns and friendly locals. The communities of Dayton, Fernley, Fallon, Austin, Eureka, and Ely are home to unusual and historic attractions and offer top-quality bed-and-breakfasts, Wi-Fi equipped hotels, and dining options that vary from quick roadside eats to gourmet delights. Destinations such as Fort Churchill State Historic Park in the west and Great Basin National Park in the east offer outdoor activities for days or even weeks of exploration.

Today, the route is paved and free of bandits, but the name is still apt; the open expanses of Nevada wilderness between towns look and feel largely as they did when the Pony rode.

Nevada Silver Trails

The vast central region of Nevada has been defined from its earliest days by the rich deposits of gold and silver found there. Riches still abound throughout Silver Trails, especially along its two major roads, U.S. Highways 93 and 95, which provide easy access from Las Vegas.

Tales vary concerning the spring day in 1900 when Jim Butler and his stubborn mule supposedly stumbled upon Tonopah's silver lode. Some say that while looking for the ornery critter, Butler happened across a silver-rich outcropping. Another story contends that when Butler found the mule, he picked up a rock to hurl at the ill-behaved animal and noticed the stone was heavily laden with silver. And some historians maintain that a mule wasn't involved at all. Whatever the case, Tonopah's birth mirrors its entire existence: unlikely, unique, and at times, a little ornery.

Such quirky stories as Butler's surround the birth and existence of many towns in Nevada Silver Trails, such as Pioche being so rowdy in its early days that 75 bodies were interred in the cemetery before a single person died of natural causes. Rachel appeals to UFO devotees thanks to its position on the Extraterrestrial Highway and proximity to top-secret Area 51.

There are natural wonders such as Lincoln County's five state parks — Beaver Dam, Cathedral Gorge, Echo Canyon, Kershaw-Ryan, and Spring Valley — and Death Valley National Park. Desert oases such as Ash Meadows and Pahrangat National Wildlife Refuges offer opportunities for hiking, fishing, and wildlife watching.

From picturesque parks and pristine refuges to former mining metropolises and the bedroom community of Pahrump, which has grown to become a tourist destination in its own right, the once-mineral-rich Silver Trails still holds plenty of treasures.

Indian Territory

Nevada's earliest inhabitants have been a part of the Sagebrush State for millennia. The traditions and rich cultures of the Goshute, Mojave, Northern Paiute, Southern Paiute, Shoshone, and Washoe tribes are alive and well in strongholds in every corner of the state.

INDIAN TERRITORY

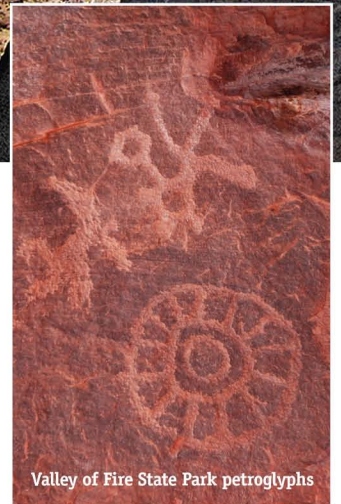

Unique among Nevada's six territories, Indian Territory is not bound by county lines, highways, or historic trails. Reservations, colonies, and other communities dot the countryside, but in truth, the entire state is Indian Territory, the ancestral lands of the Goshute, Mojave, Northern Paiute, Southern Paiute, Shoshone, and Washoe who have called the Great Basin and desert southwest home for thousands of years.

Myriad petroglyph sites around Nevada from Valley of Fire State Park in the south to Grimes Point in the north date to prehistory and offer mystery and a sense of discovery. The Lost City Museum in Overton contains artifacts recovered from the ancient city of Pueblo Grande de Nevada, and the world-famous 19th-century basketry of Dat-So-La-Lee can be viewed at the Nevada State Museum, Carson City. For a hands-on experience, festivals and powwows around the state are entertaining and informative.

The traditions and cultures of Nevada's tribes still thrive in nearly 30 colonies across the state and offer visitors the chance to witness and experience the ways of Nevada's first inhabitants. From city-bound enclaves such as the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony to the vast Pyramid Lake Paiute Reservation and world-class Las Vegas Paiute Golf Resort, Nevada's Indian Territory is a collection of diverse places where the state's native past, present, and potential coexist.

Nevada Scenic Byways

Whatever you're looking for in a scenic drive, there's a good chance Nevada has it. The most mountainous state and sixth-largest in the lower 48, the Silver State's majestic peaks and valleys are spread over a seemingly endless chunk of land. Nevada's three national and seven state byways travel along the shore of Lake Tahoe, feature a gem of a lake in Indian Territory, introduce the glitz and glamour of Las Vegas, and navigate through one-of-a-kind state parks. Nevada's scenic byways wind their way through some of the most spectacular scenery in the country.

nv.mobi/asp

Angel Lake Scenic Byway, Wells

This spectacular 12-mile route travels through the beautiful Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest, offering plenty of options for hiking, picnicking, and camping.

Great Basin Scenic Byway, Ely

Passing through two ghost towns and five state parks, this was the first route to be named a Nevada Scenic Byway. Starting at Crystal Springs and making its way to the city limits of Ely, U.S. 93 makes you feel as though you've journeyed back in time. At 135 miles, this is the longest of Nevada's 10 scenic byways.

Lake Tahoe Scenic Byway, Lake Tahoe*

State Route 28 and Highway 50 combine for a 28-mile stretch that's considered one of the most impressive in the world. The east shore of Lake Tahoe offers breathtaking views of the crystal-clear lake, towering pine trees, and snow-capped mountains, earning the title "the most beautiful drive in America."

Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway, Lamoille

In a region famous for wagon trains and cattle drives, you'll have a much easier time than trailblazing settlers did on this 13-mile route.

Las Vegas Strip Scenic Byway, Las Vegas*

Visit America's only nighttime byway and be transported around the world through themed resorts that include an Egyptian pyramid, a medieval castle, the New York City skyline, a Roman temple, the Eiffel Tower, and an erupting volcano.

Mt. Charleston Scenic Byway, Las Vegas

Just an hour's drive north of Las Vegas off U.S. 95, this byway takes you out of the desert and up into the Spring Mountains, which feature Joshua, piñon, and ponderosa pine, juniper, and many more trees. You may even spot an ancient bristlecone pine, the oldest living thing on the planet.

Mount Rose Scenic Byway, Lake Tahoe

At the northern end of the Lake Tahoe National Scenic Byway, you can pick up this byway, which takes you from the pine forests of Mt. Rose to the desert sagebrush of Reno all in a half-hour's time—45 minutes if you take it slowly.

Pyramid Lake Scenic Byway, Sparks*

The sparkling waters of Pyramid Lake and tufa formations stand out like a gem in Nevada's desert landscape. This byway runs north from the city of Sparks and takes you along the ancient lake's west shore.

Red Rock Canyon Scenic Byway, Las Vegas

Just 15 miles from the bright lights and casinos of Las Vegas lies the magnificent Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area. With its expansive sandstone rock formations, hiking trails, rock climbing, and picnic areas, Red Rock provides a dramatic contrast to nearby Las Vegas.

Valley of Fire Scenic Byway, Las Vegas

North of Las Vegas and Lake Mead lies Valley of Fire, an impressive canvas of wind-sculpted red sandstone that transforms with each slight movement of the sun.
